Disposable StimJect®

No Removing Your Electrode

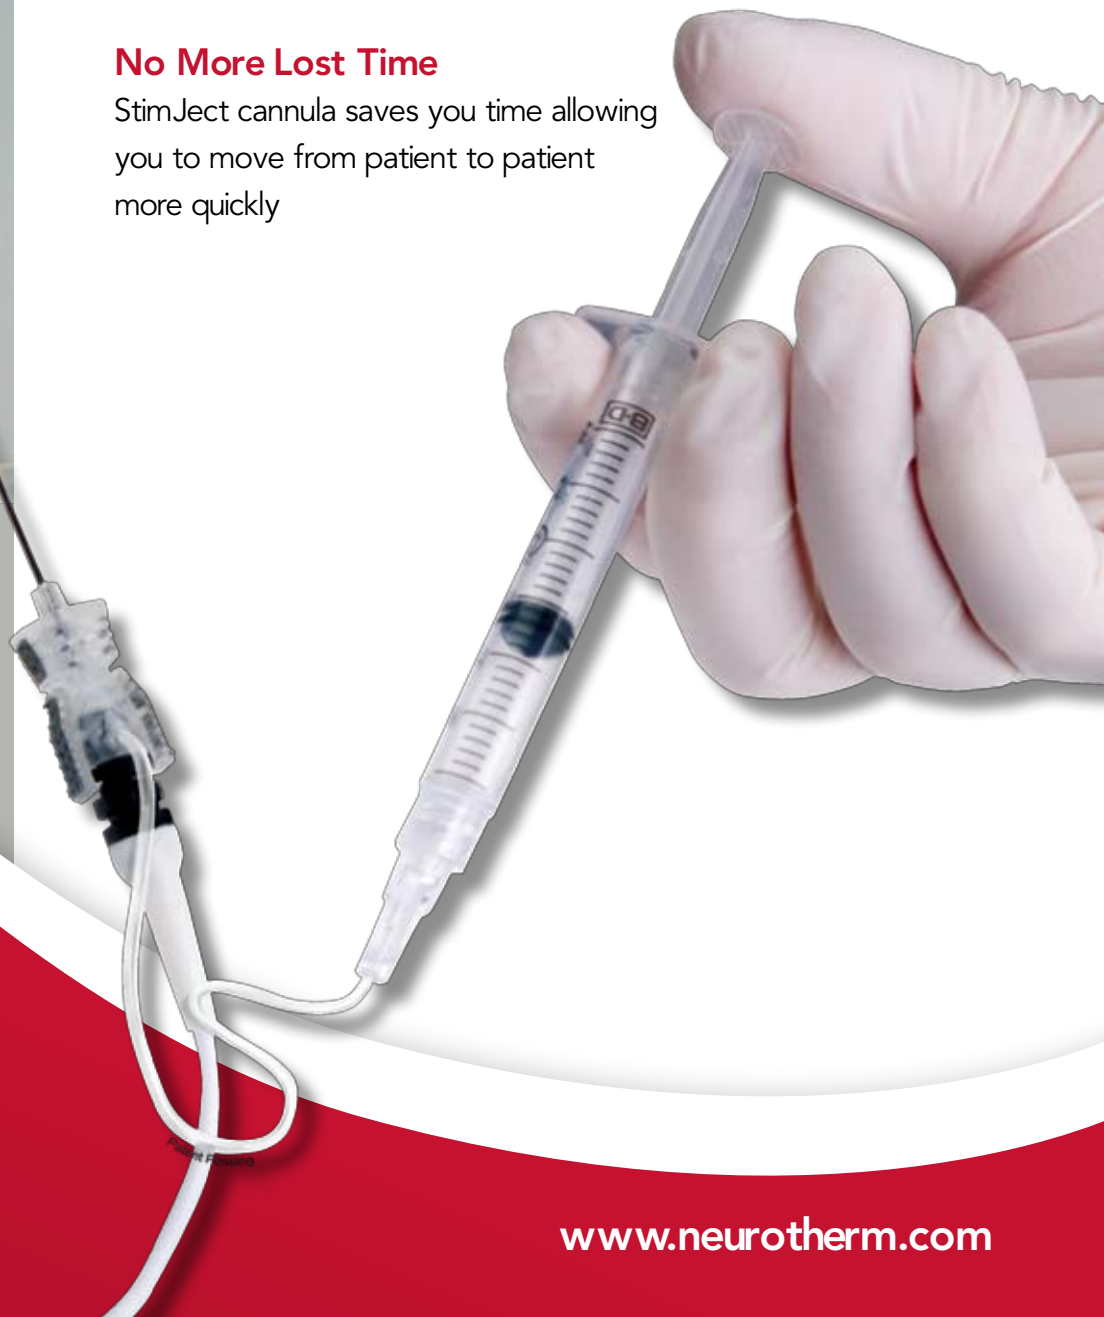

The best way to inject local without having to remove the RF electrode

No Losing Your Threshold

Not having to remove and reinsert the electrode means the cannula stays at the exact location of your stimulation threshold

No More Lost Time

StimJect cannula saves you time allowing you to move from patient to patient more quickly

The New Disposable StimJect®

Our new disposable StimJect is designed for use with NeuroTherm radiofrequency RF electrodes in (P)RF procedures. Place the StimJect cannula as you would a regular cannula. Remove the stylet and insert the electrode, then follow the usual stimulation procedure with the RF generator.

Once the desired location and threshold have been achieved, insert local anaesthetic into the injection tube rather than having to remove the electrode. The electrode movement is minimized as it is locked firmly into place by the StimJect cannula. Proceed to lesion as usual.

The StimJect cannula can only be used with a NeuroTherm RF Generators and Electrodes.

- 1 Side injection port
- 2 Clasp firmly secures electrode
- 3 Moulded grip for enhanced control

"The StimJect® allows me to inject without the need to remove my RF electrode. Without the worry of needle displacement during injection, I am confident of correct patient treatment. This is quite an innovative breakthrough in RF cannula technology!"
